

Report: Survey of Social Workers in Massachusetts (Rosie's Place 2015)

Rosie's Place, www.rosiesplace.org, a women's shelter in Boston, conducted a survey in 2015 of social services workers in Massachusetts and found that 1) social workers are providing a very significant amount of legal information to their clients, and 2) social workers want a mechanism by which they can get answers from legal aid experts about legal issues that arise during their interaction with clients. Please see the survey attached.
