Proposal Guidelines

The Planning Committee will review submitted proposals with the following considerations:

- Relevance to increasing access to justice to individuals with legal needs. In particular, proposals addressing how courts, administrative agencies, the legal services community, self-help center staff, pro bono attorneys, interpreters, law librarians, social service providers, access to justice commissions, technologists and others can develop or enhance systems to improve access for all legal consumers, with special consideration for vulnerable populations.
- Commitment to problem-solving approaches that overcome challenges and barriers and incorporate evidence-based approaches including data collection, evaluation and research.
- Consideration of how the approach builds and strengthens local and national networks of reformers, and contributes to the creation of a more consumer friendly legal system.
- Consideration of whether the approach is replicable and sustainable.

- A clear statement of the proposed session’s teaching and learning approach, clear take-home value, and practical how-to tactics (particularly if replicable in a range of settings and programs).

Expectations: The Planning Group may modify and/or consolidate similar proposals. If your proposal is accepted, staff will provide guidance and assistance to help ensure a successful training program. Confirmed panelists will be expected to submit all materials and A/V needs in advance. All presentations should be 1 hour or 1.5 hours.

Organizations may submit more than one proposal.

Conference Registration and Travel Expenses: Panelists are expected to cover their own costs. We have provided an invitation and justification letter here if needed by your organization.
