

Webinar: Public Library Webinar Series (Pro Bono Net 2012)

In the fall of 2012 Pro Bono Net produced the Libraries and Access to Justice Webinar Series to increase awareness among librarians and community stakeholders about free, online resources for people with legal needs, how librarians can access and utilize those resources to better educate and assist their patrons with legal needs, and models for legal aid-library collaborations to connect people with legal information. This series was funded with a grant from the Legal Services Corporation Technology Initiative Grant (TIG), in collaboration with the Legal Aid Society of Louisville, Central Minnesota Legal Services and Legal Services State Support (MN) The series builds on groundwork laid by the 2010 Public Libraries and Access to Justice Conference hosted by the National Center for State Courts, the Self-Represented Litigation Network, and the Legal Services Corporation.
