

Article: Judicial Techniques for Cases Involving Self-Represented Litigants (Albrecht, Greacen, Hough and Zorza 2003)

This is one of the first article published to stimulate a national dialogue about how judges can best structure and manage their courtrooms to accommodate the needs of self-represented litigants. It remains one of the most accessible introductions to the concepts and challenges that have now been addressed by the development of comprehensive curricula and scholarship.

Citation Notes: Judges' Journal Winter 2003 American Bar Association Volume 42, Number 1

Please note that the acknowledgment must include the following: title, author, publication title, including volume, issue and date, the identical copyright notice as it appears in Judge's Journal, and the legend "Reproduced by permission. All rights reserved. This information or any portion thereof may not be copied or disseminated in any form or by any means or downloaded or stored in an electronic database or retrieval system without the express written consent of the American Bar Association."

Last updated on October 02, 2020.

Year published: 2003

Document Author:

- Rebecca Albrecht
- Bonnie Rose Hough
- John Greacen
- Richard Zorza

Topics

Judges Judicial Ethics Articles & SRLN Briefs

Regions

United States

Files

JudicialTech.JJWi03.pdf

Print

Table of Contents