

Article: Delivery of Legal Services to Maryland Public Librarians (MSBA 2016)

In Maryland, each year the use of public library services rises as the state's population increases. Along with this increase in library customers, the number of people who need, but struggle to afford legal help, continues to grow. So it follows that more and more self-represented litigants find themselves in a public library. This brief article highlights how the MSBA Delivery of Legal Services Section is working with Maryland's public librarians to help them better assist members of the public who are in need of legal information.
